Summary

Seok Yun(1999) is a performer and Luthier. They moved to the Netherlands and achieved their bachelor degree in jazz double bass, master degree in live electronics at Conservatorium van Amsterdam. Their artistic practice is not confined to a single medium, but integrates sonic, visual, and spatial elements to shape immersive performance experiences. His work explores ways of intensifying audience engagement by challenging the conventional two-dimensional relationship between performer and listener. Drawing on the musical DNA of both classical and jazz traditions, his pieces seek not simply to reinterpret these traditions, but to recontextualize them within hybrid performance environments.
